You'll Find it in the Last Place Looked

Article Written By: juli

We always find what we are looking for in that last place. Yes, that does sound funny as well, because when you find it, that place is the last place you will look. You won't continue to look for something you have found.

When looking for something to fulfill the soul, people look in the first reasonable place. It seems many people look through drugs, alcohol, even food. They try various social circles, different activities. Some even fall into depression after that which they sought has failed them.

I know when I was looking for something to fulfill this feeling of something missing in my life, the last thing I wanted to hear is something about the Bible. Because I associated the Bible with Religion, boring church services. I couldn't stand the same old sermons outlining how I was a bad person, a sinner, repent you sinner. <YAWN>. Tell me something I don't know. Moreover, tell me why I should change.

What I didn't know was that EVERYONE was sinners. Some are just saved through the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Did I look in the last place? Moreover, the question is: Was I looking? Yes; tired of living life as one of the mass, a robot. Looking for something meaningful in my life, I didn't find Jesus. I wasn't looking for Jesus. I was just looking for something to complete me. Then Jesus found me, He knew my situation, and knew what I could be. But at the precise moment, when I was looking, is when Jesus made His move for me. He waited until I was done; when I exhausted my robot life, done with my own ways, done with the lies of the world.

I said, "God, there must be something more to life than to be lied to and die." If I said it once, I said it a dozen times. When my fiancé lied to me, when my best friend deceived me, when life didn't make any sense.

Once I attended the correct church, my eyes were opened. I realized that not only had I attended the wrong churches before, but I also realized who Jesus is. Jesus knew all along whom I was and the things I was going through. But He was bound by His Word to only move when asked Him to. I didn't realize serving Jesus had so much pleasure.

The music is live, the Spirit moving, and people are not starched. Worship is truly sweet. When I got baptized in the name of Jesus, I became more vibrant for Jesus. Then on top of that I received the gift of the Holy Ghost, wow! Then the clarity of my life fell into place.

I tried it the way my flesh wanted, but that clearly didn't work. So I tried it the way my spirit wanted and the connection was complete, true, pure, holy and right. I made the right decision.

Have you looked in the last place yet?
